Teenagers are amazing,
I wish the world could see, just how beautiful we really are, how passionate we can be.

I wish they could take back all the cynical things they've said, and see how much we really shine and be positive instead.

Remark on our radiant smiles, and the differences that we make,
or all the people that our lives touch, all of the chances we take.

Notice how much we change, each and every day.
Wanting to leave childhood, yet desperately wanting to stay.

I wish they could remember, how tough our lives can be,
the promises that are broken, the violence that we see.

Yet still we venture onward, unsure of where the road may lead; hoping they'll take notice hoping they'll take heed, of the changes that we've made, of the power that we hold, of the wisdom we have hidden, of the stories yet untold.

I hope the world will someday notice what some have already seen, Teenagers are amazing people, striving to follow their dreams.

Though You Are Grown

I remember years ago, you were so little then.
Sometimes, I can't help but wish that you were small again.

I've cried when you've faced heartaches, and saw, that as you grew, nothing broke your Spirit, instead it strengthened you.

I'm filled with mixed emotions, as I hold back all the tears and with much pride remember, back so many years.

When I first held you in my arms, if only I'd have known the years would feel like moments, after you had grown.

You aren't a child, though in my eyes, I guess you'll always be, that baby who changed my life, and means the world to me.

Cynthia A. Sieving
